Canton officials outlaw internet bullying

Bullying on the internet in Canton Township could result in 93 days in jail and a $500 fine following a vote of the township board members last week.

The officials agreed to extend the existing ordinances prohibiting harassment by telephone or in writing to those actions, including bullying, done through the internet. The new rules will take effect Aug. 20 following a second vote by the board members.

The new restriction was in response to a report from Public Safety Director Todd Mutchler who noted that prosecutors have had some difficulty to prove cases in court involving internet bullying or cyberstalking. The new ordinance would be used in all cases of such offenses, regardless of age.

> Harassment via the Internet or a social media site is, unfortunately, becoming a regular occurrence.

"It's really a remedy for people who are being harassed through social media and use of the Internet," Mutchler said of the new ordinance at the meeting.

According to Township Supervisor Phil LaJoy, the new rules will be an important change.

"Harassment via the Internet or a social media site is, unfortunately, becoming a regular occurrence," he commented.

Mutchler said the Canton Police Department has officers trained and able to assist victims of internet bullying or stalking through social media or other internet sources and the capability to secure forensic evidence to prove these electronic crimes took place. He urged anyone who felt victimized to contact the police.

Kelly Miller Circus in Wayne Saturday

Tigers, zebras, camels and an elephant will join a cast of international circus stars this Saturday in Wayne.

The Kelly Miller Circus will arrive at Atwood Park in Wayne early in the morning Saturday, Aug. 8. The public is invited to come out and watch the circus animals being unloaded and fed beginning at about 7:30 a.m. and a free show, including a tiger meet and greet will begin at about 9 a.m. at the Anderson Ballfields II at the park. The traditional "old style" circus will present performances at 2 and 5 p.m. and features many new acts and entertainers. Performances last about 2 hours.

Started in 1938 by Obert Miller and his sons, Kelly and Dory, the Al G. Kelly Miller Brothers Circus, now known simply as Kelly Miller, has entertained millions of American and Canadian citizens during the past 77 years.

The Miller Family built it into the second-largest big top show in America. They introduced hundreds of new circus artists to the American public and countless innovations in circus operations.

The circus travels on a fleet of 36 vehicles and requires an area of 350 by 350 feet on which to set up. The colorful circus big top has a seating capacity of 1100 and is made of waterproof vinyl. The tent is 120 by120 feet and is 40 feet high and is supported by more than a quarter of a mile of heavy gauge aluminum tubing as well as several miles of rope, steel cable and chain.

Eleven members of the circus are employed strictly for the care, comfort and welfare of the animals and are dedicated to their care and well-being, according to the circus website. The animals receive a veterinary examination every 30 days to ensure their health

According to the website, the Kelly Miller Circus exceeds all federal animal welfare standards set by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) under the Animal Welfare Act. The circus is regulated by and inspected frequently by the USDA, state and local authorities.

Advance tickets are priced at $12 for adults, $6 for children ages 2-11, and free for children under 2.

Tickets are available at the Wayne Community Center, Westland City Hall, Professional Insurance Associates, Jack Demmer Ford, Mark Chevrolet, Wayne Westland Federal Credit Union and at the Wayne Public Library.

Atwood Park is located at 33601 Annapolis St. in Wayne.

Vitality Center opens in historic NorWayne

The past meets the future in the newly-opened Jefferson Barns Community Vitality Center in Westland where some of the most modern and up-to-date resident services are housed in a historic building.

> The Westland Police Department will have an office at the center for community police officers and events.

Westland officials opened the Vitality Center in what was formerly an elementary school that was closed in 2010. The school building was constructed during World War II to educate the children of parents working as part of the Arsenal for Democracy war effort. The city rented the historic building from the Wayne-Westland Community Schools for $1 per year and began major renovations at the site. Funds for the project were loaned to the city by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development. The city will repay the 15-year loan using Community Development Block Grant funds, according to a spokesman.

The exterior of the building remains similar to the original design while the interior saw major renovations, including the installation of a wooden floor that was originally a feature of the long-shuttered Melvin G. Bailey Recreation Center.

New tenants at the building include the Westland Housing and Community Development Department, Wayne Metropolitan Community Action Agency, Nankin Transit and the Norwayne Boxing Gym. The center also features a library and community space.

Community rooms are available for rentals for public and private events. The Westland Police Department will have an office at the center for community police officers and events.

Safe Step / Beginning Step Communities will lease space at the Dorsey Center where Alcoholics Anonymous and Narcotics Anonymous continue to meet.

"I was born in Norwayne," commented Mayor William R. Wild. "I'm thrilled to see this for-

Police identify body found in Romulus ditch

Investigators from the Michigan State Police have identified a body found in a Romulus ditch last Wednesday.

According to police reports, at about 3 p.m. July 29, a mowing crew from DTE energy located a human body in the ditch on the ramp from eastbound I-94 to southbound I-275 in Romulus. Police identified the deceased as Emanuel David Lofton, 50, of Romulus.

Special Investigations Section detectives from the Michigan State Police were called to the scene along with technicians from the Michigan State Police Forensic Lab. Police said that the advanced decomposition of the body did not allow for any immediate identification other than evidence that it was a man.

The body was transported to the Wayne County Morgue for an autopsy which determined the cause of death as suffocation, authorities said. Police said they had no further information available but did say foul play was suspected in the death.

Anyone with information about this incident is asked to contact the Michigan State Police tip line at (855) MICH-TIP.

Lighting causes home fire

A lightning strike is believed to have been the cause of a devastating home fire early Monday morning.

According to the Canton Public Safety Department, a 911 call was received at about 1:15 a.m. Monday from a homeowner in the 8000 block of Tilbury Court.

First responding fire crews found the garage and roof of the home fully engulfed by fire when they arrived on the scene, according to fire department reports. Firefighters, using several hand lines and two aerial ladder trucks, worked for several hours to extinguish the fire.

The occupants of the home were alerted of the fire by their second floor smoke detectors and everyone in the home was able to exit the structure without injury. The homeowner told responding firefighters that he believed his house was struck by lightning at approximately 11:15 p.m., causing the home to lose partial power.

"Any resident whose home is struck by lightning during a storm is advised to contact the Canton Fire Department," said Fire Chief Joshua Meier. "Firefighters will check the structure for possible smoldering or fire not initially visible to the resident with a thermal imaging camera."

The 3,500 square foot home suffered extensive damage as a result of the fire.

PLYMOUTH - ROMULUS

Lifesavers honored by Plymouth Township

One golfer who plays in a weekly league at The Inn at St. John's in Plymouth will never forget May 25. That was the day he teed off at the 19th hole with the best shot of his life…it was also the day he suffered a massive heart attack right after his swing.

Adam Johnson, a security supervisor at St. John's and Joseph Micallef, a golf ranger at the course were each honored by the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees last month with life saving awards for their successful efforts to save the man's life.

The incident began as the golfer teed off at about 5:19 p.m. and immediately suffered cardiac arrest. His brother, and golf partner, immediately dialed 911 just as the situation was noticed by Micallef, who was on duty at the time. Micallef radioed his supervisor, PGA golf professional and Director of Golf James Mrozinski for assistance. He, in turn contacted Johnson who responded by grabbing a AED (Automated External Defibrillator) and rushing to the aid of the stricken golfer. According to all witness accounts, he arrived within 5 minutes of the cardiac incident.

Johnson said he applied the AED pads to the man's chest after he was unable to obtain a pulse and noticed the blue tone of the man's skin. He said he delivered one shock from the AED at 5:26 and then performed three cycles of CPR. He said the man began to regain consciousness just as the EMS ambulance arrived at the scene. The EMS vehicle transported the man to St. Mary Mercy Hospital.

He was released from the hospital in a few days and is now doing well.

A member of the golf league said that had the staff at The Inn of St. John's not responded in the timely manner they did and had they not been trained and equipped with an AED, his friend would probably not have survived the incident.

A spokesperson from The Inn at St. John's said that more than 50 staff members are trained in First Aid and the security people are on duty 24-hours a day.

"We are extremely proud of Mr. Micallef and Mr. Johnson and their efforts to save our guest's life," said Assistant General Manager Jim Fowler.

Editor's note: The victim and his family requested anonymity and did not wish to be identified.

School supplies sought by United Way

It's not unusual for low-income students to come to class without a pencil or pen to write, according to one local school teacher.

Plymouth Community United Way (PCUW) is making sure that less fortunate children are ready to learn by holding a Back-to-School Supplies Drive until Friday, Aug. 14. New socks and underwear are needed as well.

"There are over 3300 students in the area who could benefit from this drive," said Marie Morrow, PCUW President. "It is a good way to help youth get a head start in September."

Last year, hundreds of backpacks went to children in Plymouth, Canton and western Wayne County.

The Inn at St. John's in Plymouth contributed nearly 100 backpacks after dozens of golfers brought in new ones filled with at least four supplies in return for a free round of golf.

Companies including Yazaki in Canton, Lumileds in Farmington Hills, DTE Energy, and Applied Handling in Dearborn donated supplies and backpacks, and Walmart stores on Ford Road and Michigan Avenue in Canton each hosted Fill the Bus Campaigns. Target Corp. provided a gift card.

> It teaches a child, not everyone is fortunate enough to have parents who are able to purchase the tools necessary to succeed in school.

Morrow suggests parents purchase a few extra school supplies while shopping with their children and then donate them to the drive.

"It teaches a child, not everyone is fortunate enough to have parents who are able to purchase the tools necessary to succeed in school," said Morrow.

For more information on how to help, visit www.plymouthunitedway.org or call (734) 453-6879, ext. 7 or email randi.williams@pcuw.org.

New school supplies may be dropped off at the PCUW office at 960 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Suite 2 in Plymouth.

INKSTER - WAYNE - WESTLAND

Inkster joins national Light Up The City program

Inkster residents may find a police officer at their front door next Wednesday urging them to keep their porch lights on all night in an effort to deter crime.

The effort is part of the Light Up The City program and is sponsored in Inkster by the Faith Based Community. Light Up the City is part of the National Night Out community safety effort and will take place in Inkster from 4-8 p.m. at the Dozier Recreation Center. Entertainment, food and an opportunity for residents to obtain crime prevention information and meet members of both the Inkster Police Department and troopers from the Michigan State Police.

In addition to the event at the recreation center, Michigan State Police troopers, local activists and members of the Inkster Police Department will be going door-to-door in the city, offering crime prevention materials and light bulbs, encouraging homeowners to light up their city by keeping porch lights as a crime deterrent.

According to the website for the national effort, more crimes take place after dark when, "people do things once the sun has set that they would not do in the light of day."

> If everyone in the city leaves their outdoor lights on from dusk until dawn, it will make a difference.

"The Light Up the City for Safety Campaign is a community-wide attempt to shed light where we don't usually have them, on our homes, businesses, and our government buildings. We are asking all residents to turn on your outdoor lights from dusk until dawn every night. By doing so you will shed a little more light in dark places, on our streets and in our neighborhoods. If everyone in the city leaves their outdoor lights on from dusk until dawn, it will make a difference," according to the website.

Organizers said that hardware stores sell inexpensive devices to turn outdoor lights on a dusk and off at dawn or residents can simply flip the switch.

This small effort will make a big difference, they added. The National Night Out is an initiative that encourages residents to turn on their exterior lights and come out to socialize with their neighbors.

The Dozier Recreation Center is located at 2025 Middlebelt Road in Inkster.

Vehicle repossession results in assault charges

A 46-year-old Westland woman will return to 18th District Court Aug. 13 on charges of assaulting a man attempting to repossess her vehicle.

The repossession man called Westland police at about 1:15 a.m. July 24. He told officers that Tonia Cramier, 46, had physically assaulted him as he had her 2013 Dodge Journey hooked to a tow truck on the 32000 block of Merritt Street. He said he was repossessing the vehicle due to financing problems.

The tow truck driver told police that Cramier confronted him as he had her vehicle hooked up to his truck and nearly on the trailer. He said she came running from a home and got into the passenger side seat in the tow truck and pushed and scratched him. He told police that Cramier insisted that he could not repossess the vehicle and refused to look at the legal documents he attempted to show her, according to police reports. Officers who examined the documents at the scene determined that the driver's paperwork was in order. They noted that he had visible scratches and redness on the right side of his face and neck, according to police reports.

Police arrested Cramier at the scene and noted that according to test results she had a .13 blood alcohol level at the time of the incident. She was subsequently issued a court appearance ticket. She appeared in court and entered a not guilty plea, claiming that the repossession agent had used a key to cause the injuries to himself. She was released on $2,500 or 10 percent bond.

According to court records, Cramier is currently on probation on charges she embezzled funds from the Westland Housing Department. Prosecutors alleged that in 2007 she forged the signature of a client at the Family Self-Sufficiency Program through the Dorsey Center in Westland. The client claimed that Cramier, who was an employee of an outside agency, kept part of the money from the check.

In 2008, Cramier and one of her sons was accused of forging a neighbor's checks. She was also sentenced to probation on those charges after entering a plea of no-contest, according to court records. In 2013, she was again placed on probation after being charged with forging her ex-husband's name on home loan documents in an effort to lower payments on the Merritt Street residence.

"The City was mindful of the homes that border the Jefferson Barns Community Vitality Center and Nankin Transit received a grant to offset the costs for a fence to block the view of buses and enhance security," Wild said.

Westland Housing and Community Development Director Joanne Campbell also praised the new space.

The Norwayne Community Citizens Council will host the first public event at the new center from 6-8 p.m. Aug. 14 when the Home Front Victory national celebration, marking the 70th anniversary of the ending of World War II will take place.

An open house to celebrate the opening of the Jefferson Barns Community Vitality Center will be officially scheduled by the city later in the year.

Friends program seeks donations

The Friends program, People Helping People, in Wayne is looking for monetary donations, the main source of funding for the program.

The program, which began in 1998, helps a Wayne resident whose home needs some tender loving care to help with curb appeal.

A house is chosen based on the homeowner's inability to handle the work themselves, due to either financial or health reasons. This year, the program is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 12.

Those donating $50 or more will have their name put on the t-shirt that is given to all volunteers. Contributions and more information should be referred to (734)419-0118. Volunteers are also needed and should call the same number for information about the program.

BELLEVILLE - CANTON - NORTHVILLE

Van Buren trustees OK 6.5 mill ballot request

Van Buren Township voters will see a request for a 6.5 mill public safety tax on their Nov. 3 ballot.

Members of the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees approved placing the public safety millage question on the ballot by a 6-1 vote last week. The millage would be in effect for 7 years and be levied Dec. 1, 2017 if approved by voters.

According to Township Supervisor Linda Combs, the new millage would cost the average homeowner in the township about $125 more annually, based on a State Equalized Value of $50,000 on a $100,000 market value home. The millage, an increase of 2.5 mills from the current millage rate, would generate $6,478,215 at a rate of $6.50 for every $1,000 of taxable value on property in the township. The current millage expires Dec. 31, 2016.

The only no vote was cast by board member Brenda McClanahan who said the taxpayers were not amenable to any tax increase, proven by a recent survey completed by the Van Buren Public Schools. She said based on that survey, the school district reduced a sinking fund renewal request to half a mill.

Clerk Leon Wright was in favor of the new millage noting that future growth in the township populations will require more service and increased requests for public safety services.

Wright said that the current system of funding public safety places an undue burden on the township general fund.

Trustee Jeff Jahr said that the township now provides a high level of service. He said residents now pick up the phone and receive help immediately from the public safety department.

"People feel safe in this community," he said."

Combs criticized the recent comment of former Supervisor Paul White who referred to the proposed millage increase as "bait and switch." She said that the township is facing a serious liability without the approval of the proposed millage.

Treasurer Sharry Budd reinforced Combs' statements and noted that the public safety budget is now $7.7 million annually and the current 4 mills brings in only $3.4 mills toward that expense. Budd said township auditors have warned officials that spending must come in line with revenue.

"If the residents say no, there will have to be severe changes," Budd said.

Noted actor praises Shakespeare at Village Theater

The latest performances at the Village Theater in Canton Township have earned a resounding "Bravo" from respected stage and screen actor Harry Lennix.

"The Michigan Shakespeare Festival's expansion to the Village Theater in Canton is as much a sign of a mandate as it is proof of a mission," said Lennix. "It is proof that Shakespeare is forever our contemporary, and that a fresh vision of his masterful work can and will continue to sustain new generations in the living theater. Bravo to you, Michigan Shakespeare Festival! And long may you thrive."

A noted Shakespearean, Lennix famously starred as Aaron the Moor in Julie Taymor's Titus. He currently appears as Director Harold Cooper on the hit TV series The Black List, and plays General Swanwick in the upcoming Batman V. Superman: Dawn of Justice. He is has just finished filming H4, a modern adaptation of Shakespeare's Henry IV, which the Michigan Shakespeare Festival will perform this season, alongside A Midsummer Night's Dream and Richard Brinsley Sheridan's comedic romp, The Rivals.

"Not content to merely brush off classical plays and mount museum pieces," added Lennix, "Michigan Shakespeare Festival confirms my long held belief that the greatest classics need not be made relevant to us, rather we must make ourselves relevant to them. The Canton expansion is a manifest sign, yes, but the expansion is also metaphysical. It will broaden the souls and thoughts of Michiganders and attract all who love great theater from the region and the world."

Through Aug. 16, the Michigan Shakespeare Festival cast will perform William Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream and Henry IV, and Richard Brinsley Sheridan's The Rivals, at the Village Theatre of Cherry Hill in Canton. Encore Michigan calls these shows "top-drawer", "epic", and "a thing of beauty." The Detroit Free Press calls the Michigan Shakespeare Festival "the state's premier place to experience Shakespeare."

'Invasive Species' now on stage at Tipping Point

Invasive Species, by Joseph Zettelmaier, the Michigan playwright of It Came from Mars (Thespie Award, Best Original Script) and last season's holiday hit, Ebenezer (Pulsar Award for Best Original Script) is the latest offering at Tipping Point Theater in Northville.

The story centers on Earl Hobbs, a man who doesn't like people. He likes fish and has been fishing Michigan lakes all his life. Alone with his secrets, he continues this tradition in a little private fishing hole by his house, until one summer night he reels in something that leaves him speechless. He researches what this mysterious creature in his fish tank may be, catching the attention of DNR Agent Eden Selkirk. Will these two loners discover they have more in common than just the fish, or will this mysterious aquatic menace threaten her job and disrupt his fishing hole forever?

"I think audiences can expect to laugh more than a little and also enjoy a story about two lonely people who are searching for something they just cannot find at this time" said director Joey Albright.

"Joe Zettelmaier has written another great story that is well worth watching and two people who are well worth getting to know," he added.

Invasive Species will continue through Aug. 23. The curtain rises at 8 p.m. Thursdays through Saturdays, with matinees at 3 p.m. on Saturday and 2 p.m. on Sunday. A special 3 p.m. matinee performance has been added on Wednesday, Aug. 12.

The theater is located at 361. E. Cady St. in Northville. Tickets are $29 to $32 for adults and $27 to $30 for students and senior citizens and are available now by calling the box office at (248) 347-0003.

This activity is supported in part by an award from the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs and the National Endowment for the Arts.
